Look out "Oilers" for they may get started next Sunday, Aug. 21, for they are coming back, bringing more strength and are going to try to win, as they feel they have a club that can win. Don't miss it, folks! Forsan is coming back Sunday to get the "Crude Oilers". . . if they can. Come down and boost for Hamlin's team to win their 21st straight this season.

Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Phillips visited in the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harvey, while enroute to San Diego, Calif. Mrs. Phillips made her home here with her aunt for several years and will be remembered as Miss Annie Laurie Wilson. She says Hamlin has changed a great deal since she left here 11 years ago, so much she would hardly realize it is the same place.

Mrs. C. S. Dickey and little son, Jerry Don, of Aspermont, were over Monday to be with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Newsom who were here from California for a short visit.

THE RANDOLPH-RANEY REUNION HELD AT LUEDERS, SATURDAY AND SUNDAY

It must have been a great reunion of a great family, when they met at the Lueders camp grounds last Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 13 and 14.

The origin of the reunion was the Randolph family, and the oldest member of that family present was Tom Randolph, age 77. The Raney family was headed by Mrs. G. D. Raney, the oldest of the girls of the Randolph family. So in the bringing together of these families, "in-laws" and grandchildren and some few close friends and perhaps some more distant relatives, it did make a great family for two days.

Relatives present were Tom Randolph and wife, Edna Savage and three children, Hermit, Calif.; Edith Burleson, Tyler, Texas; Mrs. Jim Perry and daughter, Merkel, Texas; Mrs. Dora Davis and four children, Conlen, Texas; Guss Randolph, Hamlin, and a son, Paul Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Randolph and son, Vernon, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Sims and two children, Thalia, Texas; Mrs. Homer Randolph and granddaughter, Louverne Jones, Mrs. Nola Linsey and two children, Mrs. Jewell Hert and daughter, all of Comanche, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Randolph and four children, Jeff Randolph and four children, of Afton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Randolph and two children, Fort Worth, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Rube Richards and five children, Vera, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Jordan and three children, Seymour, Texas.

THE RANEY FAMILY
G. D. Raney (Mrs. Raney the eldest Randolph daughter), Homer Raney nad wife, J. D. Raney and wife and son, Hamlin; Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Craddock, Mr. and Mrs. Ford Waldrip and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Webb and three children, and Lucile Stephens, Knox City, Texas; Mrs. C. M. Galloway and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Galloway and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Galloway and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Galloway, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Lea and two children, Hamlin; Ona Galloway, Knox City; C. B. Reeves, San Benito, Texas.

OTHER RELATIVES & FRIENDS

Tom Talley and wife, San Angelo, Texas; Mrs. Dora Hill, Merkel, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Maples and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Brown, Goree, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Brodie Cain and children had a nice week end vacation, going through Odessa, Ft. Davis and Alpine. The children enjoyed the large mountains and the dohy houses.

FIRST BALE COMES WEDNESDAY, AUG. 17

This will go down in history of Hamlin and cotton:

The first bale of 1938 cotton to be brought into Hamlin was ginned at the Fed H. Britton gin Wednesday, August 17.

Thomas P. Lopez was the farmer who brought the bale. He is a son of C. C. Lopez, a prominent Mexican farmer in Fisher county. This cotton is from a field of early planting, just as the late freeze came Lopez was just finishing.

The secretary of the local Chamber of Commerce will see to it that Lopez gets a nice premium which will be announced next week.

The premium idea is good and whatever is to be given for the "First Bale," should have been ready days and days before anybody knows who will get it. Let's do that next year.

WHAT ABOUT COTTON

It is in place here to say that the cotton outlook is fine in this section, except that there are plenty of leaf and boll worms. Some fields are already damaged, but if rains keep away this first crop of "bugs" will not get it all. Poisoning is going on and its a battle between man and the worm.

TRIO TO SING AGAIN

The Pope trio of Anson, will be at the Mission Services, Friday night till Sunday night. Also Rev. Bell of Navaro will preach at these services. —Dr. L. P. McCREARY.

Mrs. N. Phillips and son, Bob of Bonham, are visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. John C. Turner and family. They have been visiting in Hamlin since Bobbie was a small baby, but now it is "Bob" for he is too tall and heavy to be "Bobbie". He comes from down where the tall fellows grow.

Mr. and Mrs. Brodie Cain and children had a nice week end vacation, going through Odessa, Ft. Davis and Alpine. The children enjoyed the large mountains and the dohy houses.

Melvin Henderson, Hamlin; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hert, Comanche, Texas; Pauline Ford, Afton, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Blair and J. W. Dye of Merkel, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Jackson, Rule, Texas; J. MRS. J. F. THURMAN WAS BURIED SUNDAY

Funeral services were held at the Hamlin Methodist church Sunday afternoon for Mrs. J. F. Thurman, of Lubbock, formerly of Hamlin. She passed away at her home at 2620, 21st Street, in Lubbock, at 8:45 A. M. Saturday, August 12.

Mrs. Thurman's maiden name was Mollie Kate Fleming, born on March 1, 1872 at Killeen, Texas. On January 4, 1888 she was united in marriage to J. F. Thurman, and in the early days of 1907, the family moved to Hamlin and this place remained their home till in 1931, when they moved to Lubbock. She is survived by her husband and two daughters, Miss Stella Thurman, a teacher in the Lubbock schools, and Mrs. Earl Temple of Lamesa, Texas. A son died at the age of seven. Only one sister survives, Mrs. W. J. Poe of Hamlin.

Mrs. Thurman, during her stay in Hamlin, won the love and admiration of all who knew her, because of her remarkable christian traits. She was always a devoted companion and mother, one who manifested an interest in others, one whose ideals were gained from a ogdly father and mother.

Mrs. Thurman had been in failing health since March of this year, and during the funeral services her pastor said that this hour is not one for weeping. He related many instances of his visits to her home and that she carried always a sweet abiding faith, and even to the last days voiced her feelings by feebly singing the good old songs that had long been a comfort to her.

The Barrow Funeral Directors of Hamlin went for the body and on arriving in Hamlin rested in the funeral home, where old friends and neighbors assembled to pay their respects. The funeral was at 3:00 P. M. Sunday in charge of her pastor, Rev. L. N. Libscomb of Lubbock, Rev. H. W. Hanks, local pastor, and Rev. J. Henry Littleton, of the Baptist church. Each of these ministers paid beautiful tributes. Rev. Libscomb, formerly presiding elder in Hamlin, and present pastor, paid a wonderful tribute to her memory as a loyal christian mother. Rev. Littleton, being a cousin of Mr. Thurman, had since his childhood been a favorite of Mrs. Thurman, who always appeared like a mother to him. His expressions were of the tenderest from a sorrowing heart.

Mrs. Thurman was truly loved by all who knew her.

Beautiful flowers bore testimony of the esteem for the deceased and the family. The presence of so many relatives, friends and neighbors meant the voice of love and sorrow and sympathy.

In the group of relatives were two brothers of Mr. Thurman, A. M. and A. D. Thurman and a nephew, Elbert Thurman and wife, all of Carbon, and a niece, Mrs. Lillian Patterson of Snyder. Relatives of Mrs. Thurman present for the funeral were Mrs. A. D. Maxwell, Mrs. J. G. Medford, Mrs. J. A. Bishop, and Mrs. Jack Bishop, all of Carbon, Mrs. C. A. Hull of Knox City, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes and children of Garden City. Friends and neighbors from Lubbock included Rev. and Mrs. Lipscomb, Mrs. Maurie I. Neal, Mrs. Harry Dunn, Mr. and Mrs. Freeland Groce, J. B. Pope and daughter and two son-in-laws. Dr. and Mrs. R. N. Richardson and son of Abilene, Miss Rebecca White of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Isbill of Anson, Mr. Willard Trimble of Carbon, soloist in the funeral services.

Mr. Thurman and his daughters have the deepest sympathy among their many friends in Hamlin in their great loss.

Denman Morgan and John D. Ferguson returned kindly "scattering" from their fine New York trip. They discovered Texas off the coast at Galveston and Denman got as far inland as Houston while John D. kept going north. Denman got home Sunday and it seems John D. explored various localities, perhaps looking for gold or something. These boys should make a report.

Jodie Creel of San Angelo has become manager of the meat department at the Safeway Store. He has been with the stores for two years. Mr. Creel has a wife and they have their home in the Hartwell apartments.

HOUSING ROOM NEEDED IN HAMLIN

Perhaps the newspaper realizes a situation in a community sooner than any other institution.

If there are vacant houses, rooms, etc., the newspaper knows it and figures out the why.

If there are no houses, apartments or rooms for new people it is quickly apparent to those who publish.

In Hamlin, a part of this summer there were a few vacant houses and a number of apartments, but the recent weeks, new people have come in to work at the new oil wells, or on the highways being started out of Hamlin west, or for school purposes.

It is good for Hamlin to show all new people as many courtesies as possible. Assist them in finding homes, and getting them to feeling like Hamlin is "home" from the start.

The Herald would suggest that folks who have spare rooms, especially for light housekeeping, or can arrange them for such, to let it be known through the Herald. Again, bear in mind that folks who pay their money for living quarters always like to get the neatest, cleanest, and the most comfortable places possible. Then folks who use the other fellow's property should bear in mind that they should keep the place as neat or even neater and cleaner than they found it. Often we hear folks who would spare apartments, say that they would rent them if folks would not treat rooms and furniture so roughly.

At this point we would drop this hint too: Many people would buy or build homes if it were not for the taxes on same. For they could realize that City, School, County and State taxes are assessed and will cloud their titles if not paid. If and whenever "actual living quarters" are relieved from taxes, then and not till then will communities have ample housing room. Money spent for modern, high grade living places will always rent for a fair price, but if left vacant long, with the taxes, insurance and deterioration, soon become lost.

Mrs. Ineth Williams, daughter of Mrs. T. E. Harden, left Sunday for Chicago as one of the Curtis Publishing Co. trip winners. Mrs. Williams is one of 40 in the United States and the only one from Texas. She has been diligent in her work for the company for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moss and family of McCauley, and Miss Eunice and LaVern Brown, and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Reed and family and Wilson Essary of Hamlin spent Saturday in Abilene and was present for the Round-up there Saturday night in the Federal lawn.

The Herald has a report from the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station at Abilene saying that Otha Ray Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Martin of Hamlin, had been accepted and sent to San Diego, Cal. for training.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Anderson and daughter, Miss Beatrice of Gorman, came up Tuesday to visit their sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse L. Garrett. Mr. Anderson and his wife formerly resided here about six years ago.

ATTORNEY G. P. HUDSON LOCATING IN HAMLIN

This will introduce the people of Hamlin to Attorney G. P. Hudson, who is establishing a law office in this city. Hudson is a son of Tom Hudson of Anson, a native of Anson, and a student in law department of Texas. Mr. Hudson is associated with the firm of Stinson, Hair, Brooks & Duke of Abilene. His officie is in the Waggoner building.

It is fair to this young attorney to say for him that he is NOT a married man. For this time this is introductory enough, and here is hoping Mr. Hudson success in his chosen profession and location for business.

INVITED TO EPWORTH LEAGUE

The Epworth Hi League invites you to attend the services at the Methodist church, at 8 o'clock Sunday evening. Members of the League want your presence at one of their most interesting programs selected for its general appeal. Mrs. Turner Beard will offer a special song and a trio from the band will play.

W. L. Fletcher and family left Monday for Washington City where the National Rural Letter Carriers' Association meets on August 23 to 26. Mr. Fletcher is National Treasurer and they are going a week early for an executive board meeting. In this connection the Texas delegation to the convention will be accompanied by the Simmons University Cowboy band. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher and children went by auto. Mr. Fletcher has been treasurer for four years.

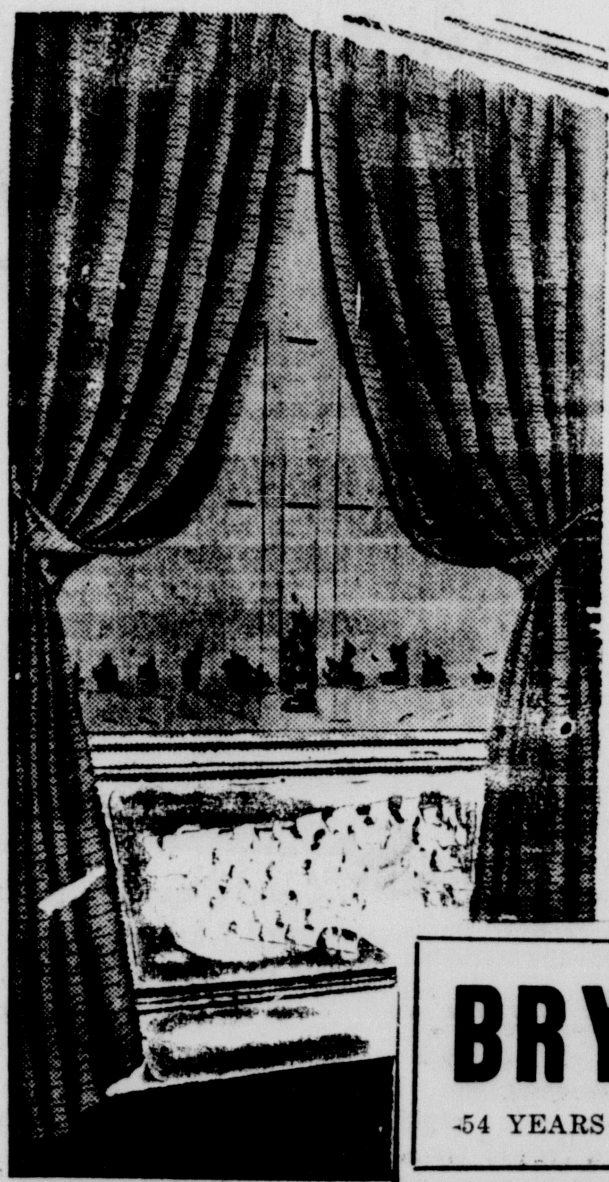

Mrs. H. G. Hull and sons, David and Calvin, left Monday for Fort Worth to visit relatives and where Mrs. Hull is to undergo an operation the latter part of this week.

Washington City has a new boy since August 11. The Herald has a dainty announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Sylvian Freedman saying it is a seven pound, twelve ounce son whose name is Herbert Freedman. So this means Grandpa and Grandma D. Freedman who are well known to all in Hamlin.

Miss Leone Meadows, sister of Mrs. Paul Fowler, has returned from a six weeks vacation trip to Mexico, D. F., where she attended the summer school of the National University. She made week end trips to Cuernavaca, Taxco and Acapulco on the Pacific; also Pueblo, Orizabo and to Veracruz. Miss Meadows is a guest in the home of Dr. and Mrs. P. A. Fowler, this week.

Jim Bledsoe, of Hobart, Oklahoma, came down Monday to spend a part of his time here with his mother, Mrs. J. C. Bledsoe. Mrs. Bledsoe and children Patsy and Shirley, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Gibson in Abilene.

O'Daniel's Mistake! ? Or Was It?

(Editorially)

Owing to what has happened in Texas the last week, it is entirely appropriate for every paper to record it, editorially, or otherwise, for further light and for further records.

On July 23, Mr. W. Lee O'Daniel was the idol of more than 573,000 Texas voters, and he continued to be the favorite of that number and met the approval of still others by his guarded sentences.

On August 11, he made a radio talk.

Friday and Saturday, and day after day since, many of his supporters are outspoken in disapproval. Public favor changed over night.

Why all the fuss? Why all the surprise? Why get excited? What harm has O'Daniel done? Can one man change Texas? Really did Mr. O'Daniel make a mistake?

Did you have your mind made up as to whom you would vote for on Aug. 27, if you did, and if your judgment was worth a tinker's, was the mere saying of the nominee enough to change your judgment?

Really O'Daniel made a mistake only because Texas people were not accustomed to having things politically done that way. Maybe W. Lee thought the people made a mistake July 23, and he wanted to head off a second one. Two mistakes don't make one right, you see. It was the unusual that shocked the public.

The fact that O'Daniel voiced a choice of men is the best proof that he is NOT a politician. No politician would have poked his hand into a thing so reckless, and uselessly.

O'Daniel said he was not a politician during the campaign and that a business man would not do things a political way. He didn't.

O'Daniel evidently found out that somebody who had experience and knowledge about state affairs was needed, and that if knowing the governmental machinery was called a politician then he wanted politicians to help him. Did he make any mistake except from a personal standpoint?

People asked for it and they got it. And after time for thought, after the realization of his first great step, many Texans will say it was no mistake. It was frankness, freedom of expression to be admired.

O'Daniel said in his Tuesday broadcast that he refrained from that step and held off till forced to for the public welfare, because of misleading rumors, that he was supporting certain candidates. His meaning and purpose was cleared up.

O'Daniel is the Nominee, and a small thing like saying who he thought would best serve in office so close to his program, should not divert the more than 1,000,000 Texas voters from backing their judgment. In clearing up what he meant by his endorsements he said there were two or three points that he felt outstanding: maturity, knowledge, experience, and influence with members of the legislature. Frankly everyone, and most of all, Mr. O'Daniel himself recognized that he possessed neither of these essentials and the state had to have them from some source. Hence his frankness. He could have kept quiet, let things rock along, as has been done before, and in the long run somebody must pay for the "pussyfooting."

Texas people have done the unusual and will have to become accustomed to shocks. Mr. O'Daniel will be our Governor some day, if he lives, and all lovers of good government should want him to succeed in things best for the state. If he should not ever fill the office, then all the more do we need statesmanship and experience in the Lt. Governor.

A very few people believe O'Daniel sold out or made any undue trade or compromise. That idea sometimes gets going but is generally untrue. Let it be recalled that every candidate pledged his loyalty to the new governor. That was good sense too, although many thought it out of place and preferred that each stand on his own.

Spite voting will get our state nowhere. Just because somebody has done something you dislike and you and that somebody was for the same man, why quit your man because the other fellow is for him? Why pick up another man because O'Daniel did not pick him? Why vote for a man because O'Daniel is for him? Either way says you do not back your own information and judgment. Vote as you please and forget O'Daniel's choice. Back your judgment first. Mr. O'Daniel has hurt no one but himself for the present, and maybe he will get over that. From many points of view he made out a good ticket, but he sowed the seeds of discord and bickering that might have been left off.

Certainly it was not Mr. O'Daniel's idea of trying to tell the voters to vote just as he wanted them to, but since so much responsibility was soon to fall on himself no one could blame the man from wanting as much experienced help as possible, and it takes years to get experience. The worst thing Mr. O'Daniel has done thus far is to preach that Texas should shun "Politicians." Just about as well say you do not want the old engineer to pilot the passenger train that you ride in. He bears responsibility because of his experience as a railroader—he may not be an angel but knows how to keep his train on the track. Mr. O'Daniel was frank in saying he wanted a good crew. He possibly did not make as big a mistake as some at first thought. All of us should be for good government and impatience often leads to confusion. Take it easy. Mr. O'Daniel won his position on the floor fairly and at the expense of the people with $801.30 left over for the Red Cross. No kick there.

A REAL HOME TOWN BOOSTER

(From Aspermont Star)

"This week we had the pleasure of meeting and talking to a man who is really a home town booster, first and last. This noted home town booster is none other than Bowen Pope, editor of the Hamlin Herald.

"Editor Pope states that as long as he has been in business as a publisher in Hamlin that he has never solicited one nickel's worth of business out of Hamlin. But he further states that the merchants and business men of Hamlin have always seen to it that he did not have to leave town to get enough business to get along on. He says that if and when the merchants and business men of Hamlin no longer supported the paper to that extent that he would solicit business anywhere he could get it, but felt that he had some of the most loyal and some of the go-gettingest folks to deal with anybody ever had.

"After the conversation with Editor Pope and several others, it is beginning to look like we are going to have to look to other towns for our business, for it is truly apparent that the majority of the trade of this area is going to Hamlin, Stamford and Abilene. If the people of this area are going to spend their money in these towns, naturally we are going to have to look for our business in these towns too. Why? Because the home town merchants and business men have neglected to make a bid for the trade of this area.

"Again we say, if the trade of this area is worth having, it is worth fighting for and to fight for it properly, you must advertise. Believe you me."

—Editor Wade.

That reminds us. Sure we failed to tell that the Aspermont editor paid the Herald a pleasant visit. He is new in his town and trying hard to do something for his community.

HON. COKE STEVENSON

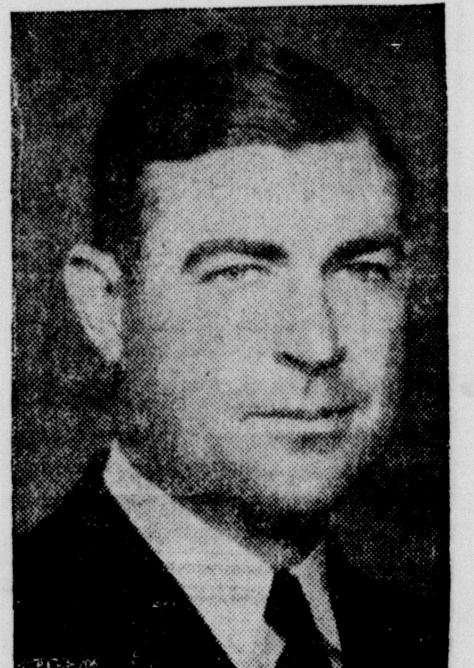

Just turned 50, lean as a greyhound and hard as a pine knot, Coke Stevenson of Junction, Kimble County, candidate for lieutenant governor, is something of an oddity in a Texas that appears to be new all over. Youngish, (he still admits to being one of the best cedar cutters in the Hill country), Coke Stevenson still lives in Kimble County where he has spent his life.

Trite though it may be to say so, the boyhood of Coke Stevenson, was strikingly like that of one Abraham Lincoln of Kentucky and Illinois. Stevenson in 1938 and still boyish is a sort of the last of the frontiersmen in Texas public affairs. There are no rails to split in the Hill country, but there is plenty of cedar post chopping. Stevenson learned to swing an ax early and became an expert at trimming out cedar posts. He became a freighter in his boyhood and for a year and a half made the week-long pilgrimage from Junction to rail's end at Brady, a round trip of 150 miles over rocky trails. He made that the occasion for pursuing his studies and his readings around a camp fire included the mastering of a correspondence course in bookkeeping.

Stevenson's progress was rapid after he quit diving a freight team. The practice that he adopted around the camp fire has been continued

ONE-TERMER

WILLIAM H. McDONALD

AUSTIN.—It is for the people to say whether an elected official has performed his duties in a satisfactory manner, Land Commissioner William H. McDonald stated here. "The office of land commissioner is a constitutional one, and the holder of the office, elected by the people, is responsible to the people for his actions," he remarked.

"Having received nearly half a million votes in the first primary," McDonald observed, "I feel that I have received the stamp of approval from the people." McDonald remarked that he is now and has always been ready to cooperate with any governor in any activity calculated to further the best interests of the state.

"I shall continue to oppose any measures that are contrary to the best interests of the people, no matter who the advocates of such measures may be," the commissioner said.

McDonald pointed to his wide experience in oil and land affairs as having qualified him in an unusual way for the office he seeks.

He was district clerk and later practicing attorney in Eastland county during the great West Texas oil boom.

"It was this experience," he stated, "that enabled me to increase the revenues from state lands by $3,000,000.00 during the first year I was in office."

Recommending to the voters that they consider each experience and record in determining their choice, McDonald said that it is the business of the land commissioner to administer affairs of his own office in the manner which he considers to be right and just.

NOBLE MOTHERHOOD

A lesson of vital interest to every mother, "Should the Mothers of Today Dedicate Their Children?"

What do mothers want for their children? When is a mother Godly enough to rear and guide her children's development? These are some of the subjects to be discussed in the Kings Daughters Class Sunday morning at 9:45 o'clock.

William Quillian said "The strength of any republic rests not in the militia, its system of government, nor in its great public buildings. The strength of any nation is to be found in the homes of its people. And to a mother largely depends just what the home shall be."

You will enjoy this lesson. Visitors welcome. —Reporter.

Misses Victoria and Valeta Crow returned Sunday from a two months visit in San Antonio where they had been visiting their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ferguson, and cousins, Jean and Juandell. While there they visited Corpus Christi, Austin and Pleasanton and several smaller towns. They also visited the Alamo and the several other missions; Randolph Field, Brackenridge Park, Lake McQueeney and many other places of interest.

Well Backed-Endorsed

COMMISSIONER TERRELL

Former State Senator R. A. Stuart, who received nearly 130,000 votes for Railroad Commissioner in the July primary, has announced that he will actively support C. V. Terrell as against Jerry Sadler in the August 27 runoff primary.

"In my opinion, the proven attitude of Judge Terrell's opponent would lead to chaos and the absolute and utter destruction of the natural resources of Texas should he be elected," said Stuart. "We have only one way to judge a candidate, and this is by his past record. In view of this, in comparing the two candidates, I cannot do other than cast my vote for C. V. Terrell, although I have differed with him and explained my differences to the people of Texas."

"I believe the fairest, squarest and most honest administration of the Railroad Commission affairs will come from Terrell rather than from his opponent."

Stuart is the second of the formidable candidates eliminated in the July primary to announce his support of Judge Terrell. John Wood, who, with a total of more than 225,000 votes, came near to getting in the runoff, has taken to the stump on a speaking tour for Terrell.

FOR O'DANIEL'S INFORMATION

JUDGE HARRY N. GRAVES

FORT WORTH, Aug. 15 — A thirteen volume study of the state government of Texas today was in the hands of Texas' future governor, W. Lee O'Daniel, after being presented by Judge Harry N. Graves of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The survey of the government of Texas was prepared by a joint house and senate committee then headed by Judge Graves as chairman. It gives a detailed picture of the operation of all 131 departments of the state government, and required eighteen months to complete. Judge Graves served without salary in preparing the report, which cost a total of $75,000 of which approximately $50,000 was furnished by the state and $25,000 by a foundation.

"Thank you very much," Gubernatorial Nominee O'Daniel told Graves in accepting the report. "I will be glad to read it."

The presentation was made as Judge Graves opened his tour of West Texas and the Panhandle in his campaign for the unexpired term on the Court of Criminal Appeals, of which he is now a member. It was made at the suggestion of present Governor James V. Alfred after O'Daniel had expressed a desire to inform himself thoroughly on the government of his chosen state before taking over the gubernatorial reins January 1.

That Judge Graves is also familiar with the work of the Court of Criminal Appeals is evidenced by a report just released by the clerk of that court. During the 195 working days Judge Graves has been on the court he has written 193 opinions, or almost one a day. Each of the 193 was approved by the two other judges, showing the legal soundness of his work. Judge Graves, the high candidate in the first primary by a substantial lead, is being supported by his defeated opponent, Judge Charles A. Pippen of Dallas.

Former Sec. of State

GERALD MANN, of DALLAS

The runner-up in the first primary for Attorney General was Gerald Mann of Dallas. He was once Secretary of State. He made a brilliant race for the office, excelling in votes others of riper age, and wider experience. He is still fighting to overcome the "endorsement" factor. Win or not he has a place in the political affairs of Texas that will likely carry him places in the future. If he wins, he will soon be classed as a "professional politician," although he may be strong and able and popular. A man with little or no experience has no record with which any opponent can hammer him down in a hot race.

CARD OF THANKS

We take this means of thanking our friends and loved ones of Hamlin for their many expressions of sympathy in the death of our dear wife, mother and sister. We deeply appreciate your love and kindness.

Miss Evelyn Moss of McCauley spent Sunday with LaVern Brown.

Lead For Lt. Governor

PIERCE BROOKS, OF DALLAS

The remarkable thing about Pierce Brooks is that he was once a candidate for Governor of Texas and received 30 or 40 thousand votes.

This year Brooks came out for Lt. Governor. He had no public experience except his race four years ago, perhaps. This year it appeared that his being unknown helped him quite a lot, and when the vote was counted on July 23, he piled up a total of better than 300,000. His nearest opponent received about 258,000. Information about Mr. Brooks has been limited. Reports say he is engaged in real estate, just previous to the "famous broadcast" last Thursday night, Mr. Brooks said that he could not believe an endorsement would be announced in his behalf. Fifteen minutes later he realized different. He is fighting hard to overcome his opponent who has a great record as a rancher-lawyer, a member of the legislature four times and as Speaker two times.

Attorney and Mrs. Frank Taylor of Fort Worth came Monday for a top in Hamlin with their mother, Mrs. J. F. Taylor. They left Tuesday accompanied by Mrs. Taylor of Yellowstone Park and other mountain points.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Ferguson and children spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Revell. Miss Victoria Crow returned with them to San Antonio. Others who spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Revell Sunday were her sons, D. O. F. M. and Earl Crow and their families.

For Attorney General

WALTER WOODUL

Lt. Governor Walter Woodul, of Houston, has stood in the lime light of public affairs in Texas for many years. During the past three years he has been called to act as governor many times in the absence of the governor. It still appears that he is to be in the limelight as he is one of the leading candidates in the Aug. 27 run-off primary for Attorney General.

Experience is no handicap in handling any kind of business, and certainly if ability and a good record are measuring points, Mr. Woodul should be fitted to be the "chief attorney" for the state of Texas.

In the machinery of state, Woodul has worked almost from the track up to where he now stands. He knows the operation of the state's intricate affairs, and should be able to represent the state in all legal matters in and out of the state, in any and all the courts.

Mrs. J. W. Griffin was called to Waco last week by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Lucy Coker. She will likely be there several weeks. She accompanied her brother Ellis Coker and family who came for her.
